Reflecting on my growth as a member of a group

I have become better at listening to my group members, also at communicating with my group members. I have been able to talk and have more brain storming ideas.

I used to sit in my groups and listen to what everyone had to say and also just go along with the choreography my group members would come up with.

Now I talk more, and give my groups ideas. Also now I give my groups pieces of choreography. I am now more open minded and enjoy talking with my members.

Reflecting on my growth as a member of a group

I have become better at cooperating. I have become better at listening and collaborating. I have improved my focus on the task at hand when in a group.

I used to be a director and try to control everything. However, this role was not conducive to the progression of my respective group. I failed to recognize that my peers' output was just as good as mine.

Now I listen and recognize other ideas. I compromise and value the ideas of my group members.
